

Useful
Hints

Woman and Home

Ethical Talks

Who Pays?

Story No. 7

Blue Blood and Yellow
By EDWIN BLISS

(Copyright, 1915, by Pathe Exchange, Inc. All moving picture rights reserved. Shown at the Victor each Saturday.)

(Continued From Yesterday)

"He had put it off, and put it off—and to-morrow he was to leave! To-morrow! The thought startled him, as his brain, dreamy and unsteady, was aware of the necessity for quick, definite action. His resolution was as instant as his courtship—for their close intimacy was really that—a protracted, idyllic. He went to the phone, hesitatingly, and called her number.

"Hello, Miss Logan please. Mr. Reed speaking. Hello, Ann, is that you? This is Paul. You know I've received my appointment to-day. Yes, thanks. I'm leaving to-morrow. May I come up? Oh, fine!—and may I bring my father? I'd like you to meet him. All right, in half an hour. Good-bye."

"What's this I hear? Bringing your father, eh? Not me, I tell you."

"Oh, come, father, she won't eat you. I want you to meet Miss Logan; she's been a great friend to me—has helped me wonderfully. I've spoken to her often of you."

"And so it was settled. The boy always had his way.

"Anita Logan, twenty-four, and her sister Rose, eighteen, were joint heirs to the great Logan fortune. Old John Logan, as he was known on the exchange, had been a banker of spectacular success, and had left behind him on his death at the age of fifty-two, two charming daughters and an enormous fortune. Bess was still away at school, and Anita was staying at home. She was a beautiful girl, married all this without violating the conventions of the most exacting. Or at least make the amount of food you consume proportionate to the exercise you take. You will get rid of your Sunday headaches if you do.

Remember: If you take plenty of exercise, you will have a keen appetite which can be satisfied without distressing after-effects.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

(Little) I fear, little girl, that the large lump at the side of your foot

ATTRACTIVE TUB FROCK
For Street Wear

Tub dresses this season are particularly attractive—their charm due as much to the color combinations as to the designs. The beautiful model illustrated is a striped linen featuring the new patch pocket. Belt of white leather.

is a bunion. Bunions are usually caused from ill-fitting shoes, either shoes that are too tight or too loose. Your shoes should fit perfectly. First have a shoe that is wide enough to allow the toes to spread, then take a piece of adhesive plaster and bandage the great toe, bringing it into its natural position. This will relieve it and the inflammation will disappear.

Mrs. Ted R. Too much oil in the skin will make the face look shiny, despite the most vigorous use of powder. Practically the only cure for this trouble is a careful diet. Fruits, salads, and fresh vegetables must be substituted for pastries and sweets, and all oily meats. Wash your face all oil meats. Wash your face and thoroughly each night with warm water and a pure Castile soap, followed with an application of witch hazel to close the pores.

Elsie—I am sorry, but I know of nothing that will thicken your nails. Cutting the nails instead of filing sometimes thickens them. To soften brittle nails, dip them in olive or almond oil. Hold them in the oil for about five minutes.

S. E. A.—The way to reduce is by dieting and exercise. Walking, bending, and swimming exercises are all excellent for reducing the weight. Scalp massage with a good hair tonic will prevent your hair from coming out. I shall be glad to send you my reducing dietary, formula for hair tonic, and instructions for scalp massage if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Anxious.—There is nothing as good for the complexion as plenty of fresh air and sunshine. Be careful of your diet. Do not eat rich and spicy foods. Drink lots of water between meals. Walk and get all the exercise you can in the open air. Sleep eight hours, if possible. A girl of fifteen should not have any wrinkles about the mouth. Carefully massaging your face each night with a good skin food will remove the small wrinkles. Guard against biting the lips, as they will become thick and chapped. The habit is indulged in. Thick lips often come from mouth breathing. I shall be glad to send you formula for reducing thick lips if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Dr. Brady's Health Talks
Has a Cancer Root?

The popular conception is that a cancer has roots and that the popular conception is right. It has roots, but not in the sense usually conceived. That is, the irregular border line between normal tissue and cancer tissue is one of the characteristics which distinguishes malignant degenerations or cancers from mere swellings or tumors.

But the roots of a cancer are like the roots of a weed—if a portion of the cancer is left behind the growth will continue, even though you remove practically the whole plant. The roots rather take nourishment from the cancer, and not the cancer from the roots. The natural order is reversed. The old-time doctors believed with the people that it was useless to remove the cancer; the modern doctors believe that it is wise to remove the cancer and at the same time extirpate all its roots, to prevent renewed growth.

Skin cancers, of all kinds, seem the least excusable. On the cheek, the lips, the forehead, the eyelids, a small wart-like spot or node may be noticed for years. It doesn't seem to change much, but often bleeds when touched, or per-cures—will be sent on receipt of stamped, addressed envelope. The mere fact that there are some sixty-odd "cancer" cures marketed, ought to make you a bit suspicious of the whole lot.

Breathless on Exertion—My daughter, nineteen, in school, suffers with pounding heart action and shortness of breath on going upstairs. Kindly tell me whether this indicates anything serious.

Answer—Anemia, pleurisy with effusion, unrecognized heart disease or nephritis might cause such symptoms. Just to be on the sensible side, take her to your physician and have a physical examination, like a life insurance test, you know.

AMUSEMENTS

Farce-Melodrama at Bijou.
In selecting Augustin MacHugh's melodramatic farce, "Officer 666," for presentation by his Bijou Stock Company this week, Director Arthur Berthelet has made a wise choice. Holiday crowds do not want to take their pleasures seriously, or certainly not all of them. There will be enough seriousness, enough solemnity, in the exercises attendant upon the reunion—not to speak of the reunion itself and the thoughts that it will bring—to content the most sober-minded. Therefore, so bright and happy a farce as "Officer 666" will be doubly welcome during the week. It is not all farce, however; indeed, it is difficult to say which is the better term with which to describe it—melodramatic farce, or farce-melodrama. There is about as much of farce, so that either phrase describes it fairly well. The play has been unusually successful in the past, and on the screen, and the reason is every reason to expect that Mr. Berthelet's company will play it in a manner that will bring out both its farcical and its melodramatic qualities to the fullest extent. In "A Man's World," most of the members of the company gave more or less convincing demonstrations of their acting ability, and in "Officer 666" they will be called upon to repeat their work in the thrilling situations that abound in the play, while they will also be required to show what degree of deftness they possess as farce players.

Vaudeville at Lyric.
For the entertainment of such of the city's guests as yearn for the varieties—and they will doubtless be many—Manager Rex has arranged two bills for the Lyric from which he hopes and expects much. The bill-topper for the first half of the week will be Ralph Dunbar's Royal Dragooons, an organization of nine men, all of whom are not only instrumentalists, but singers as well. On the same program will be the act of the aggregation billed as the Great Walters Company, which is composed of contortionists and pantomimists, who present a fantastic scenic sketch, called "The Witch and the Frogs." Others on the bill for the first three days of the week will be the Keystone trio, two men and a woman; Mumford and Thompson, two men, in songs, dances and patter, and Harry Cutler, singer and monologist.

Famous Play on Strand's Screen.
Clyde Fitch's famous play of half a generation ago, "The Moth and the Flame," will be the Strand's Paramount picture for the first half of the week. It will be recalled by many theatergoers that "The Moth and the Flame" was one of the most notable successes of the long joint career of the gifted actress, Elsie Sherrington, and the popular matinee actor, Herbert Keeler. It is said that the Famous Players Film Company has produced the play in film form with genuine prodigality and with the most careful attention to detail. The presenting cast includes Adele Fiedler, Edward Mordant, Stewart Baird, Irene Howley and Arthur Donaldson. For the last half of the week, beginning Thursday, the Strand will show the appearance of the screen of Elsie Sherrington in "Betty in Search of a Thrill." From the press notices, it seems that Betty is a young girl who thinks that she ought to be a star in the world before she settles down to a humdrum existence as merely a happy married woman. So she goes out into the world, and gets many a shock, experiences many a disappointment, until she becomes convinced that searching for thrills is the wisest course that a young girl can pursue.

Fine Actor in Colonial's Picture.
Edmund Breese, one of the most brilliant and highly regarded "heavy" men on the American stage, will be seen on the Colonial's screen to-day and to-morrow in "The Shooting of John McGraw," a photoplay based upon the poem by Robert W. Service. As the action of the photodrama—which is really only suggested by the poem—is laid in the Far North, many scenes of the frozen country of snow will be thrown upon the screen. It is said that the star and a large company were sent to Canada during the coldest weather for the purpose of making this picture. On Wednesday and Thursday, the Colonial will present the admittedly wonderful artist, Betty Nansen, in "A Woman's Resurrection," a photoplay that is said to be adapted from Tolstoy's "Resurrection." Like Nansen, O'Neil, Betty Nansen alone is sufficient to make a picture-play, regardless of story, plot and supporting cast, but this supporting company includes men who are almost stars in their own right—Edward Jose and Stuart Holmes, for example. For Friday and Saturday the Colonial announces the widely popular picture actor, Francis X. Bushman, in a photodrama of McCutcheon's best-selling romance, "Graustark." This out this week performances will begin at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, and with a new performance every hour and a half, will continue until 11 at night.

NOW RUSH TO PASTRY COOKS
Cakes, Ices and Fruit Suppliment After-Theater Supper in Paris.

PARIS, May 30.—Cakes, ices and fruit have supplanted the after-theater supper. Playgoers who, before Gallieni's reign, went to the restaurant or cafe, now rush to the pastry cooks, who have amiably fallen into the custom and keep open until after midnight. Those who have only a thirst to quench, find fruit at the first corner. All along the leading thoroughfares in the vicinity of theaters orange girls, surrounded by crowds of eager customers, have become a familiar figure, and promise to become a permanent feature of night life in Paris.

Baptists Win Silver Cup.
LYNCHBURG, VA., May 30.—By defeating the First Christian team, the ball team of Rivermont Avenue Baptist Church has won the silver cup offered the winners of the series in the intermediate division of the Sunday School Athletic League. St. Paul's Episcopal school team won a similar cup in the Junior League this spring.

FACES POLITICAL CRISIS

Liberal Party Wants to Force Arbitration of Labor Disputes.

KRISTIANIA, May 30.—The Liberal party, now in power, is confronted with a political crisis in the fate of the bill for the compulsory arbitration of labor disputes, which is one of the main planks of its platform. Threats of a general strike caused a postponement of the measure last year, as the Cabinet wanted the centennial of the Norwegian Constitution to be celebrated peacefully. But now no such sentimental reason exists. The Liberals face a new election, and the threat of a general strike has been renewed.

Forced arbitration of labor disputes is bitterly opposed by the trade unions, since by it they would be deprived of the right to strike. Employers also object to having to arbitrate every time labor makes a demand, and to losing their right to declare lockouts. Thus for entirely opposing reasons Conservative capitalists and socialist unionists have joined in a fight against the Liberals, who represent the small householders, farmers, salaried men and the like, or 40 per cent of the voters.

One section of the labor bill has the support both of employers and men. It provides for forced mediation before a strike or lockout is declared. When either party has a grievance, no action can be taken until a conference has been held before a government committee. But if mediation fails, either side may take such action as it pleases. As this is the last session of Parliament before a new election, the radicals must submit the bill in its entirety, according to its pre-election promise. If the forced arbitration section should pass within the next few weeks, the Socialists will carry out their threat, already served, of a general strike, affecting 70,000 union and 20,000 non-union laborers. All branches of skilled labor are unionized. Such a strike would badly cripple the country.

INTERRED IN UNION CAMP

Old German Seamen Enjoy Confinement at Estote.

LONDON, May 30.—An internment camp for German aliens, maintained by the Seamen's Union for members of that trade union, is interesting. The camp, called Estote Camp, is located near Blisworth, and the War Office has nothing to do with it. It occupies an attractive sixty-acre estate and houses about 500 aliens. After the war the union intends to make a home for mariners.

Twenty-seven acres of the property are enclosed by a high fence erected by the government, and the government allows the union £250 a week for each man interned. The huts and buildings, mostly of brick and stone, have been erected and equipped by the inmates, all of whom are seamen, and mostly members of the union. The camp is guarded by nine members of the county constabulary, but the guard is mainly perfunctory. The camp is technically a place of detention, but the detention is to a great extent voluntary. There is little to prevent any man escaping if he wants to, but, as a matter of fact, only one prisoner has escaped. He was captured some time later, but the camp authorities refused to take him back, and he was interned elsewhere.

The inmates, being mostly old sailors, rather enjoy their confinement. They have plenty to eat, nothing to do, and plenty of elbow room. There is an interesting little model port in the grounds, with model ships of all kinds, both liners and warships, with model wharves, piers, cranes and other equipment. The inmates show great ingenuity in adding to this. They also do a good deal of work in the gardens, and are now engaged in digging a large swimming pool in the estate.

To-Day and To-Night in Richmond

Hollywood Memorial Day parade and exercises, 4 P. M.
Confederated Southern Memorial Association, Jefferson auditorium, 11 o'clock.
Sons of Confederate Veterans, opening meeting and presentation of trophies, City Auditorium, 8 o'clock.
Bijou—Bijou Stock Company, in "Officer 666," 8:30.
Lyric—Popular vaudeville and pictures; matinee, 3:30; night, 7:45 and 9:15.
Strand—Paramount pictures; continuous performance, 12 noon to 11.
Colonial—Motion picture; continuous performance, 9:30 morning to 11 night.

WEATHER

UNSETTLED
Forecast: Virginia—Unsettled Monday, probably showers and rain Tuesday, fair, warmer.
North and South Carolina—Local thunder showers Monday; Tuesday probably fair.

Local Temperature Yesterday.
12 noon temperature..... 58
3 P. M. temperature..... 56
8 P. M. temperature..... 54
Maximum temperature to 8 P. M. 64
Minimum temperature to 8 P. M. 54
Mean temperature..... 57
Deficiency in temperature yesterday..... 14
Deficiency in temperature since March 1..... 146
Accumulated excess in temperature since January 1..... 3

Local Rainfall.
Rainfall last twenty-four hours..... .62
Rainfall last twelve-hour hours..... .14
Deficiency in rainfall since March 1..... 5.10
Accumulated deficiency in rainfall since January 1..... 1.89

General Weather Conditions.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—It is considerably cooler in the Middle Atlantic States and warmer in the Northwest and the Far West. Showers will continue Monday and probably Tuesday in the East and South Atlantic States, and there will also be local showers Monday in the Lower Ohio Valley and the West Gulf States, followed by generally fair weather Tuesday. It will be warmer in Tuesday in the Plains States, the Central Valleys, and the Middle Atlantic States.

CONDITIONS IN IMPORTANT CITIES.

(At 8 P. M. Eastern Standard Time.)
Asheville..... 66 72 56 P. cloudy
Atlanta..... 68 80 60 Cloudy
Atlantic City..... 52 56 .. Cloudy
Boston..... 56 66 .. Clear
Buffalo..... 60 66 .. Clear
Cincinnati..... 62 66 .. Cloudy
Charlotte..... 76 86 68 Clear
Chicago..... 54 58 .. Clear
Denver..... 50 60 .. Rain
Duluth..... 54 58 .. Clear
Hartford..... 60 66 .. Clear
Hatteras..... 66 78 66 Cloudy
Havre..... 72 72 .. Clear
Kansas City..... 58 58 .. Rain
Louisville..... 61 68 .. Cloudy
Montgomery..... 60 66 .. Cloudy
New Orleans..... 70 86 70 Cloudy
New York..... 52 56 .. Cloudy
Norfolk..... 54 66 54 Rain
Oklahoma..... 62 64 .. Cloudy
Pittsburgh..... 52 54 .. Cloudy
Raleigh..... 60 72 60 Cloudy
St. Louis..... 62 68 .. Cloudy
San Francisco..... 58 62 .. Cloudy
Savannah..... 78 88 68 P. cloudy
Spokane..... 70 70 .. Cloudy
Tampa..... 52 58 72 P. cloudy
Washington..... 54 56 .. Cloudy
Winning..... 50 50 .. Clear
Wytheville..... 60 66 54 Cloudy

MINIATURE ALMANAC.

May 31, 1915.
HIGH TIDE:
Sun rises.....4:52 Morning.....6:57
Sun sets.....7:23 Evening.....7:42

FINAL FIGHT FOR FRANK
IS SET TO BEGIN TO-DAY

Georgia Prison Commission Will Hear Application for Commutation of Sentence.

GREAT INTEREST IN CASE

Spokesman of Delegations From Many Points Outside of State Will Speak in His Behalf—More Than 200,000 Arguments and Letters.

ATLANTA, May 30.—The hearing of Leo M. Frank's application for commutation of sentence from death to life imprisonment on the charge of having murdered Mary Phagan, is set to begin here to-morrow before the Georgia Prison Commission, composed of It. E. Davidson, chairman; T. E. Patterson and E. L. Rainey. It is predicted that the hearing will occupy not more than two days, but it is not believed the prisoner will appear personally.

It became known to-night that counsel for Frank will file with the commission a letter written by the late Judge L. S. Roan, who presided at the trial. The letter was entrusted to Luther F. Z. Bess, of counsel for Frank at his trial, and is said to have been written by Judge Roan just before his death, with the request that it be presented to the prison commission in the event the case ever reached that body. It is understood that Judge Roan in his letter reiterated his doubts as to Frank's guilt, and urged executive clemency.

Former Congressman W. M. Howard, of Augusta, who will have charge of the argument in behalf of the young factory superintendent, whose case has attracted such nation-wide attention, and in which there has been aroused public interest seldom if ever equalled in the legal annals of the country, in addition to the arguments by the prisoner's attorneys, it is expected that the hearing will be heard from several Georgia cities and from Chicago, Boston and possibly other points outside the state will be granted time for oral pleas in Frank's behalf.

PROCEDURE BEFORE PRISON COMMISSION

The prison commission, under the usual procedure, considers petitions, briefs and affidavits bearing upon the case, hears arguments both for and against the application, and if it desires may orally examine witnesses for either side, particularly if any new evidence not produced in court proceedings, is presented. According to Frank's counsel the most important new evidence to be submitted will be a statement, or possibly an affidavit, by Mrs. Frank, setting forth what she knows of her husband's case. Mrs. Frank was not permitted by law to testify at the trial.

Frank's counsel also have stated they will offer to produce Frank to testify before the board, since under the State laws, a person accused of murder is barred from examination under oath at his trial. The commission has not indicated whether they will call him.

There already has been filed with the Governor and the prison board a mass of petitions in Frank's behalf from State Legislatures and committees and societies of various kinds from all over the country, and in addition there have been presented more than 200,000 arguments and letters in the prisoner's favor from lawyers, Governors, United States Senators, Congressmen, jurists, editors, ministers and other public men and from individuals in all walks of life.

The commission expects to consider some of the most important of these communications in addition to the briefs, record of court proceedings and oral arguments made at the hearing before formulating their recommendation to the Governor on Frank's application.

Amazon Explorer
Swears By Grape-Nuts

Algot Lange—famous tropic explorer—recently made a perilous exploration of the lower Amazon.

The question of food supplies was a big one. Economy of space—food value—keeping qualities—palatability—all had to be considered.

Lange chose for his standby—

Grape-Nuts

Here is the way he refers to this food here and there through his book, "The Lower Amazon."

"I have included in my supplies Grape-Nuts."

"At lunch I eat some Grape-Nuts (an American breakfast cereal) with condensed milk."

"After this egg (turtle) meal comes for me Grape-Nuts from sealed tins."

"I go back to the moloca at noon to eat my lunch of roast turtle, Grape-Nuts and hard-tack."

Everywhere—at home or abroad—wherever big things are accomplished—this famous wheat and barley food is relied upon to build and sustain vigor and energy of body, brain and nerve.

Ready to eat—delicious—economical—nourishing.

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts

—sold by Grocers everywhere.

Sunday Headaches

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

"I always have a headache on Sunday," remarked a woman the other day. Her case is like that of many other women, and men also. She takes less exercise and eats more food on Sunday than any other day in the week. The Sunday dinner is usually one of the heaviest and most elaborate of the week. People then have more time to spend at the dinner table. It is customary to feast on that day. Unfortunately it is the day when the average person gets the least physical exercise.

This combination of circumstances accounts for the fact that so many people complain of headaches on Sunday. They do not exercise enough to assist their stomachs in digesting all the food they consume.

If you are troubled with Sunday headaches, do not overload your stomach. Do not eat until your eyes drop and you want to sleep. Do not drink into a state of inebriation. The good Lord never intended His holy day for such a purpose. Keep your mind active and get plenty of fresh air and exercise. You can do

DAINTY SLIPPERS
For the Boudoir

Dainty slippers of pink taffeta with a pink bow and a frill of lace over the instep.